

PROJECT MANAGEMENT

Having a project manager is essential. With so many moving parts, they improve efficiency and minimize risk; especially when dealing with international teams.

Many companies make the mistake of utilizing internal PM's. They assume this will save time and money, but in reality, because they are beholden to company protocol and normally have very little decision-making authority; projects get bottle-necked at the PM's desk.

Consider utilizing the seasoned project managers at Southeastern Refractory to provide the schedule, communication, and fluency your project needs to get completed in an efficient, cost-savings way.

Our team has successfully managed projects both domestically and internationally, and working on multimillion dollar projects is nothing new to us. Working on manufacturing and construction projects gives us valuable insight and experience that we can apply to each new job we take on.

Southeastern will oversee your entire project including:

- Procurement
- Delivery
- Scheduling
- Demolition
- Construction
- Safety
- Communication among all parties

When you're ready for an organized, efficient, pleasant project experience, call Southeastern We're ready to jump in and make it happen!

Whatever Your Furnace Needs are Southeastern Refractory has the Experience